SCHOLARSHIP
2000-2001
The Amarillo College Foundation currently administers 231 endowed and 45 non-endowed scholarship funds as well as 16 loan funds.

Application. Students may apply for Amarillo College Foundation scholarships through the Amarillo College Financial Aid Office. The application deadline is March 1. Recipients of scholarships are notified in early summer.

Applicants may include names of specific scholarships for which they wish to be considered. In addition, the Financial Aid Office will submit applications to selection committees for consideration of scholarships for which the applicant is qualified.

Eligibility. Individual scholarships require various eligibility criteria, which usually relate to preferred major, minimum credit hours, and grade point average. Generally, a student must be enrolled in Amarillo College and in good academic standing.

Award. Criteria for awards vary among scholarships. Generally, awards are based on merit, achievement, financial need, and academic potential. Individual scholarships may require minimum grade point averages, minimum number of college credit hours, participation in school activities and/or community service, and other qualifications as specified by donors.

In most cases, scholarships and other forms of assistance provided through The Amarillo College Foundation are credited to the student’s account. Most cover a portion of tuition and fees. Some also cover books, and few include required supplies.

The amount of scholarship awards varies from fund to fund. Awards from endowed scholarships are based on a mathematical calculation of average annual endowment income and realized capital gains on investments.

Scholarship recipients will be notified in writing by the department making the award.

Acknowledgment. Recipients are encouraged to thank donors for their gifts which make scholarship awards possible. Information about donors is available through the Financial Aid Office or The Foundation Office.

Loans. The Amarillo College Foundation has funds available to lend students. Please inquire in the Financial Aid Office for further information.
